My dear friends,

My family and I moved into our country house one month ago. The kids are planning to give a party at our new house. I hope all of you can come. The party will begin at 11:00 a.m. on Saturday. There will be lots of food and drinks.

Together with this letter is a map to our house. After you get off the train, take the road in front of the station. Follow it and you'll see a chicken farm. Don't make any turns. Keep going and you'll see a bridge. Cross the bridge and there will be a big tree on your left. Walk past the tree, take the first right turn, and then walk for five more minutes. You'll see several houses. My house is at the end of the road, next to the river.

In Kenya, life as a girl or woman is difficult. They can only follow their fathers or husbands. Many girls can't go to school, and men decide everything for them.

However, this village in Kenya is different. People call it Umoja. The girls and women here are happy. They make beautiful things and sell them to tourists. Only women and their kids live and work here. Men can visit the village, but they can't sleep here. In Umoja, women make the rules, not men. In 1990, Rebecca Lolosoli and 15 other women started Umoja. They wanted to build a safe place for women and kids. They also built a school in the village. Every girl can go to school here.

Later, Umoja became famous around the country. More and more women and girls came to the village. Some left Umoja and started more villages like Umoja for women. They all have one hope: One day in Kenya, everything will be different. Women will not need to listen to men, and they can be their own boss.
